

Guatemala-Mexico Border: 'Hostile and Aggressive' Migrants Break Border Gate to Force Their Way into Mexico

A group of 350 migrants from Central America broke the locks on a gate at the Guatemala-Mexico border, and forced their way into Mexico to join a large caravan of 2,000 people who are headed to the US.

Mexican authorities said a group of about 350 migrants broke the locks on a gate at the Guatemalan border Friday and forced their way into southern Mexico to join a larger group of migrants trying to make their way toward the United States.

The National Immigration Institute did not identify the nationalities of the migrants, but they are usually from Central America.

A similar confrontation occurred on the same border bridge between Mexico and Guatemala last year.

The institute said the migrants were acting in a “hostile” and “aggressive” way, and accused them of also attacking local police in Metapa, a Mexican village that lies between the border and the nearby city of Tapachula.

The group of 350 pushed past police guarding the bridge and joined a larger group of about 2,000 migrants who are walking toward Tapachula in the latest caravan to enter Mexico.

Claudia Jaqueline Sandoval, 43, from El Progreso, Honduras, was walking toward Tapachula with her six-year-old daughter. Another son and a daughter are already in the United States.

“I have been HIV positive for 16 years,” said Sandoval, but her reason for going north was not just medical treatment. “It has been two years since I heard from my son” in the United States, and money is scarce, she said.

There are already several groups of migrants in the southern border state of Chiapas who have expressed frustration at Mexico’s policy of slowing or stopping the process of handing out humanitarian and exit visas at the border.

Texans Living Over 70 Miles North of the Border Are Terrorized by Illegals and Cartels

The citizens of Encino, Texas, about 75 miles north of the border, are being terrorized as hundreds of illegal aliens, including foreign gang members, pass through their neighborhood in large groups on a typical day. A local resident said that Mexican cartel members have threatened her family. Her husband had to use a gun to fend off a dozen illegals entering her property heading for the house. She says it is unsafe to go outside without a gun and her neighbors are afraid to call Border Patrol due to threats by drug smugglers. She stated that a wall is desperately needed and that those who oppose the wall in the cities of McAllen and Brownsville only care about their thriving businesses.

Americans living roughly 75 miles north of the Mexican border are being terrorized by foreign gang members and illegal aliens, according to a resident of Encino, Texas, who says a border wall is needed to protect U.S. citizens.

A woman identified only as "Soila" told NBC affiliate KVEO that "hundreds" of illegal aliens pass through her neighborhood on any given day, while Mexican cartel members threaten her family and friends – and even attempt to invade her property.

"We no longer can go out without a gun; you can't go for a walk," Soila said. "My neighbor and his daughter were chased by men with masks. She was riding her 4-wheeler down 281 – they saw her and they jumped the fence and started chasing her."

"Huge groups – and we're not talking 10 or 15, we're talking about 40, 70 – and the last few months it's getting worse. They really need to go after the coyotes because we have seen so many abandoned families, women with children just left out there. These people are not educated – they don't know east or west, they don't know where the sun rises and sets. You ask them, 'Have you ever seen a map of Texas?' They don't even know how big Texas is."

Soila tells of multiple confrontations between her husband and gang members who use intimidation to silence and control opposition, adding that her neighbors are scared to call Border Patrol due to threats.

"12 young men dressed in black – my husband automatically stops, and they just put a finger to their lips and it's like, 'You better not say anything,'" Soila said. "They know what we drive, they know where we live."

"There was a young man, [my husband] kept telling him to stop right at the gate, but he kept coming. My husband cocked the gun, and right on his left-hand side, 12-15 more pop out. They were trying to get in towards the house."

San Jose, California: Illegal alien Carlos Eduardo Arevalo Carranza, a 24-year old illegal alien from El Salvador, is alleged to have stalked 59-year-old Bambi Larson before entering her home and stabbing her to death. Carranza was an admitted gang member and had six prior arrests, including battery, resisting arrest and possession of methamphetamine. Los Angeles and Santa Clara counties ignored nine ICE detainers to deport Carranza due to California's state and local policies offering sanctuary.

Carlos Eduardo Arevalo Carranza, 24, was arrested Monday night in connection with the murder of 59-year-old Bambi Larson; police say he stalked her before stabbing her to death.

Larson, a systems manager in San Jose, did not show up for work on Feb. 28. That seemed unusual to co-workers, who phoned her son to alert him.

Larson's son and a co-worker went to her home in the 900 block of Knollfield Way around 1:45 p.m. and discovered her body in the bedroom, San Jose Police Chief Eddie Garcia said.

Police arrived and found Larson suffering from multiple stab wounds consistent with a cutting tool, multiple lacerations to her body and blunt force trauma. They also recovered a bloodied towel and footprints from the scene near a sliding door.

Paris on Verge of Being Lost to Migrants Who Rang in the New Year by Setting 99 Vehicles on Fire

99 vehicles were set on fire in Saint Denis, a suburb of Paris just six miles from the Eiffel Tower, which is home to more than 400,000 illegal immigrants. Out of the suburb's 1.5-million population, 600,000 are Muslims from North Africa or sub-Saharan Africa and there are at least 160 mosques. France's former Interior Minister, Gérard Collomb, warned that the country's internal security is dire thanks to immigration. He said that, within five years, the situation could become irreversible. -GEG

99 vehicles were set on fire in the migrant-heavy Paris suburb of Saint Denis last night while clashes with police were also reported.

The Intelligence Fusion Twitter account posted a map which stated that, "In addition to 99 cars being set on fire, nine bonfires were also identified."

Setting cars on fire has become a "tradition" for migrant youths who routinely set vehicles ablaze on New Year's Eve.

Located just 6 miles from the Eiffel Tower, Saint Denis is home to no less than 400,000 illegal immigrants. Out of the suburb's 1.5 million population, 600,000 are Muslims from North Africa or sub-Saharan Africa and there are at least 160 mosques.

The area is a perfect illustration of how mass migration and integration has completely failed.

According to journalist Andrew Malone, "the area is already lost to France," with open drug dealing, Sharia courts, women wearing the full Burka despite it being banned and police afraid to patrol the streets.

Migrant areas of Paris have routinely suffered riots and mass torching of vehicles over the last 15 years, most notably in 2005 when youths of mainly African and North African heritage burned a total of 8,000 vehicles over a period of 3 weeks.

Areas of Paris, including Seine-Saint-Denis, and Lyon were also hit by unrest on Halloween night last year following a message on social media calling for a "purge" against police.

200 riot police were needed to quell chaos in an immigrant suburb of Nantes, France as youths set cars on fire and torched a shopping center back in July following the police shooting of a Muslim man.

In a recently published interview, France's former Interior Minister Gérard Collomb warned that the country's security situation is dire thanks to mass immigration.

Asked what he thought about the security situation, Collomb responded, "The relations between people are very hard, people don't want to live together."

Pressed as to whether he thought mass immigration was responsible for this unrest, Collomb responded, "Enormously so," before going on to acknowledge that France did not need any more immigration.

"Communities in France are engaging in conflict with one another more and more and it's becoming very violent," said Collomb, agreeing with the interviewer that some form of societal breakdown like partition or secession was a major concern.

"How much time do we have before it's too late?" the interviewer asked Collomb, to which he replied, "I don't want to create fear, but I think there's very little time left...It's difficult to estimate, but I would say that within five years the situation could become irreversible. Yes, we have five, six years to avoid the worst."

Trump Gives Border Troops Authority to Use Lethal Force, Threatens to Close the Border

President Trump said that he has authorized American troops on the US-Mexico border to “use lethal force” if necessary to protect Customs and Border Protection personnel from migrants if they engage in violence. Trump also threatened to close “the whole border” if it becomes uncontrollable or if Americans protecting the border get hurt. Trump said that there were 500 criminals traveling with the caravan, which was reported by the Department of Homeland Security last week.

President Donald Trump said Thursday he has authorized American troops on the US-Mexico border to “use lethal force” if necessary against an approaching group of migrants while also threatening to close “the whole border.”

Trump, who was speaking with military members and reporters at Mar-a-Lago, also said there “certainly could” be a government shutdown over border wall funding in December.

“If they have to, they’re going to use lethal force. I’ve given the OK,” Trump said. “If they have to – I hope they don’t have to.”

“I have no choice,” Trump said, and, without providing evidence, added, “You’re dealing with a minimum of 500 serious criminals” and “rough people.”

Earlier this week, Trump approved a memorandum that granted new authority to troops on the border to protect Customs and Border Protection personnel from migrants if they engage in violence. Until the new authority was granted, troops were not allowed to intervene if CBP personnel came under attack unless they needed to act in their own self-defense.

Trump has sent nearly 6,000 troops to the US-Mexico border to protect against a group of migrants coming through Mexico from Central America. Many of the migrants have said they are seeking asylum and fleeing gang violence and persecution in their home countries. Trump ordered the deployment shortly before the midterm elections, when Trump was making the fight against illegal immigration a central part of his pitch for Republicans seeking office.

Defense Secretary James Mattis said Wednesday “there has been no call for any lethal force from (the Department of Homeland Security),” saying that any troops backing up customs personnel would not be carrying firearms but could be equipped with shields and batons.

Trump on Thursday also said “two days ago we closed the border,” and added, “nobody’s coming in.”

The Left-Wing Media Elevates Migrants While Insulting Americans. Liberal Journalists Are Lying about the the Admitted Criminals in the Caravan.

Sources at the border report that the caravan is 70% single men, and Mexico's own ambassador said in an NPR interview that many are "very violent." However, the leftist media is lying to Americans about the caravan not being dangerous, while denigrating their own countrymen. The left needs immigrant voters because they cannot win elections based on their ideas and philosophy. An article in the New York Times advocated for replacing the "embittered white conservative minority".

One of the men in the caravan admitted that he was charged with a 3rd degree felony of attempted murder. Mexican authorities arrested two young Honduran men on charges of shooting at federal police officers who were escorting the caravan. Another incident involved men from Central America who set fires in an immigration facility in Mexico in an attempt to escape from being deported. Mexican authorities are reporting the use of firearms and Molotov cocktails by the migrants. Reporters have noted that members of the brutal MS-13 gang are embedded in the caravan.

Mexican Federal Police were reportedly fired upon by two armed Honduran migrants, identified only as “Jerson” (22) and “Carlos” (17), near Ignacio Zaragoza in the Mexican state of Chiapas this week as the police were providing an armed security for the notoriously unsafe caravan.

Thanks to the attacker’s .380 pistol jamming, the police officers were able to arrest the two men.

The shooting occurred shortly after Mexican authorities announced they were investigating the manufacturing and use of Molotov cocktails and other incendiary weapons within the migrants’ ranks.

Americans’ concerns about the security risks present in this caravan seem to be increasingly vindicated by the day. And, as we at MRCTV have stated previously, Obama’s attempt to downplay Republican concerns regarding the “bunch of impoverished, malnourished refugees 1,000 miles away” looks increasingly laughable.
