

France: 13-Year-Old Girl's Story about Her Teacher that Led to his Murder Was a Lie

France: A 13-year old Muslim schoolgirl, known as Z, lied to her father when she said her history teacher, Samuel Paty, during a lecture on free speech compared to blasphemy, showed cartoon drawings of a naked Mohammed to the class. When this story circulated on social networks, it led to outrage within the Muslim community. Ten days later, the teacher was beheaded by an 18-year old Muslim Chechen refugee. The girl's story was that Muslim students were told to leave the room while the drawings were displayed, and that she was suspended from school when she objected to the naked drawings. Z stuck to her story until classmates told police that Z was not present in Paty's class on the day that he showed the caricatures of a clothed Mohammed and that she was suspended because of her habitual absence from class. -GEG

Like many a school truant, the 13-year-old girl was keen to prevent her father from discovering she had been suspended because of repeatedly failing to turn up for lessons.

So she made up a story. The teenager said her history teacher, Samuel Paty, had instructed Muslim students to leave the classroom so he could show the rest "a photograph of the Prophet naked".

It must have seemed a harmless enough lie, but it sparked a chain of events that led to unimaginable horror.

Ten days later, the teacher was dead – decapitated by a Islamist terrorist. Paty's family were left devastated, France traumatised and the girl and her father facing criminal charges. Two other teenagers, who took money from the assassin, Abdullakh Anzorov, are also under investigation.

On Sunday, Le Parisien revealed that the girl, known only as Z, had admitted that she had wrongly accused Paty. The paper said she confessed to the investigating anti-terrorist judge that she had lied, and that she was not even in the class where Paty showed pupils controversial caricatures from the satirical newspaper Charlie Hebdo.

The newspaper said the girl had lied because she wanted to please her father.

"She would not have dared to confess to her father the real reasons for her exclusion shortly before the tragedy, which was in fact linked to her bad behaviour," Le Parisien reported.

Sri Lanka: More than 200 Killed as Catholic Churches and Tourist Hotels Targeted in Bomb Attacks

Sri Lanka: A string of at least eight explosions ripped through three Catholic churches and three high-end hotels filled with tourists, killing more than 200 and injuring many more on Easter morning. Sri Lanka's police chief issued an alert to top officers ten days ago warning that Muslim suicide bombers planned to hit "prominent churches". No group has claimed responsibility for the attack, but there has been an increase in persecution and threats against Christians from the Muslim and Buddhist populations. One of the alleged suicide bombers behind the attacks has been identified as Zahran Hashim, who previously made a video declaring declaring: "Anyone who disagrees with Muslims should be killed." -GEG update 2: A ninth bomb found at the Colombo International Airport in Sri Lanka had reportedly sent the major international flight hub into lockdown for hours.

Local media, citing military officials, says it was successfully defused:

A spokesman for the Sri Lankan Air Force claims a massive PVC pipe packed with explosives was "discovered on the way to Colombo International and defused by the Air Force".

All major social media networks were reported blocked in the country shortly after the series of eight bomb attacks on churches and luxury hotels – mostly in Colombo – making information slow to come out.

update: US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo has said in a statement hours after the string of at least 8 coordinated bombing attacks as Easter services were underway that “several” Americans have been killed, though without giving specifics.

Local authorities have said further that 5 British nationals were killed, two of which had dual American citizens. Police are still attempting to identify some among the over 200 deceased, as Reuters reports:

“Altogether, we have information of 207 dead from all hospitals.

According to the information as of now we have 450 injured people admitted to hospitals,” police spokesman Ruwan Gunasekera told reporters.

Three churches in various parts of the country and four hotels in Colombo were hit. At least 27 of the dead were foreigners, including five British people, two of whom had dual U.S. citizenship, and three Indians, according to officials in those countries.

Sri Lankan authorities have still not officially identified a culprit, nor have any militant groups claimed responsibility, this as multiple suspects were reportedly arrested in connection with the string of near simultaneous bombings of churches and luxury hotels, mostly in the capital of Colombo.

However, as Time reports:

News agency AFP says it has seen documents that show that Sri Lankan police have been on the alert for several days, fearing that suicide bombers from a local radical Muslim group, the National Thowheeth Jama'ath (NTJ) were targeting prominent churches.

AFP also reported that Sri Lankan police seized a haul of explosives and detonators in January after arresting four men "from a newly formed radical Muslim group."

A number of Sri Lankan Muslims were known to have joined ISIS in Syria, according to Reuters.

All major social media networks have been reported blocked in the country, making information slow to come out.

Two Scandinavian Women, While Camping in Morocco, Were Brutally Murdered by ISIS Terrorists

Moroccan police arrested 18 men in connection with the rape and beheading of two women, Maren Ueland, 28, of Norway, and Louisa Vesterager, 24, of Denmark, while they were camping. The four suspects accused of direct involvement in the women's deaths appear in a video pledging allegiance to ISIS. A gruesome video of the attack has been widely circulated by social media with men in the video calling the attack "revenge" for fellow jihadists in Syria. The Facebook page of Ms Ueland's mother, Irene, has been spammed with hundreds horrible images of her daughter's slit throat and Ms Jespersen's severed head. Ironically, one of the victims, Maren Ueland, posted a video against discrimination of Muslims in 2015 and wrote, "Never judge people by their appearance." - GEG

Thirteen suspects have been arrested in connection with the beheading deaths of two tourists in Morocco, the state-controlled 2M news agency reported.

Four are suspected of killing 28-year-old Maren Ueland of Norway and 24-year-old Louisa Jespersen of Denmark. Of those four, one had previously served a two-year sentence in an extremism-related case, Boubker Sabik, a Moroccan national security spokesman, told 2M.

Nine others were arrested in different cities for their alleged connection to the four murder suspects, 2M reported.

During the raids, authorities found "suspicious substances that could potentially be used in making explosives," 2M said.

The bodies of Ueland and Jespersen were found Monday in the High Atlas mountain range.

Both women had been spotted with three men in their hotel in Marrakesh before heading to the Atlas Mountains to hike. They were found in Imlil, an unguarded and remote area on the mountain range.

The state-run Maghreb Arab Press reported that the pair had been killed with a "melee weapon."

A video purporting to show the decapitations is being analyzed by the Danish Security and Intelligence Service, the agency told CNN. The video's authenticity has not been verified.

The Moroccan government has called the killings a "terrorist and criminal act," and Danish Prime Minister Lars Lokke Rasmussen said the killings seemed to be "politically motivated and thus a terrorist act."

The four suspects accused of direct involvement in the women's deaths appear in a video pledging allegiance to ISIS, but they do not reference the killings.

8-Year Old German Girl Stabbed by Arab Child in School – Teacher Makes Her Stay Until School Day Ends

Yara, an ethnic German girl, was a student at an immigrant-majority school in Germany where she was the only child who was fluent in the national language. She was bullied by the migrant children daily and stabbed by an Arab child. The teacher made her finish out the school day despite having been cut in the abdomen with a sharp object. The school board was notified and Yara changed schools.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mjY0mv39nDo>

A news item from German broadcaster Sat 1 tells about the traumatic experience 8-year-old Yara had at a migrant majority school. She became an outcast, was bullied and even stabbed.

Little Yara was the last person in her classroom who spoke German at home. Her school can be characterised as a migrant majority school with Turks and Arab migrants as students.

“They needed to employ an interpreter to translate from German to Turkish or Arabic in order for the Turkish, Arabic people to even understand what was going on. I felt a bit lost and that’s when I realised how it must feel for my daughter,” the girl’s father, Mike F., tells Sat 1.

A young girl was 'passed around' and had sex with 100 men by the time she was 16, jurors in a child sex abuse trial were told.

The girl, who cannot be named for legal reasons, claims the abuse she suffered between 1998 and 2001 began when she was just 13 years old.

Her account was given in a video interview played at the trial of eight Asian men accused of the sexual abuse of five girls over a five-year period from 1998 to 2003.

The men were arrested and charged as part of Operation Stovewood , an investigation into sexual abuse which was launched after the Rotherham grooming scandal.

On Friday (Sept 7), Sheffield Crown Court heard how her number would be passed around between the men – with others then ‘demanding’ to meet her.

She said: ‘I can honestly say that by the age of 16 I had slept with 100 Asian men – some I didn’t see again.

‘The ones who come and use you for one time are the ones who are hard to remember.

‘As soon as you get to know them your number gets passed around.

‘Asian lads demanding to meet you – then you meet a new group and it went on like that.

‘I didn’t know at the time I was being passed around when I was 13 but I know now I’m older.’

Judge Allows Release of 5 Suspects Accused of Training Children to Commit School Shootings

New Mexico: Judge Sarah Backus is allowing five Islamic extremists, who were charged with child abuse, to be freed on bail with ankle monitors, despite a state prosecutor's request that they be detained. The suspects were arrested after a compound was raided, and 11 starving children were discovered in squalid conditions. The suspects are accused of training these children in firearms and school shootings. Judge Backus cited the lack of criminal history of the defendants and said the state did not provide sufficient evidence showing they would be a danger to the community if released.

One of the suspects, Siraj Ibn Wahhaj, is accused of abducting his 4-year-old son, Abdul-Ghani Wahhaj, who suffered from brain damage from birth and seizures. The remains of a small boy were found on the compound, but have not yet been identified. Court officials say the child allegedly died during a "ritual" in the New Mexico desert witnessed by children who were told the victim would be resurrect as Jesus. The grandfather, Imam Siraj Wahhaj, was named as a possible co-conspirator in the 1993 World Trade Center bombing. -GEG

Five alleged Muslim extremists who are accused of training children to carry out school shootings have been released on bond after one of their attorneys complained that the men were only being targeted because they're "black and Muslim," as opposed to "white and Christian."

Judge Sarah Backus said that prosecutors didn't prove the alleged jihadists were "a danger to the community" and released them on a $20,000 "signature bond," which means they won't even have to pay the fee unless they violate the conditions of their release.

“The state argued that the 11 children at the compound were being trained to use guns as they prepared to attack teachers, law enforcement and others in institutions that the group considered corrupt,” reports the Albuquerque Journal.

Eleven malnourished children were found on the property while another child had died at his father's hand “during a religious ritual intended to expel religious demons from his body.”

However, one attorney argued that the men were victims of Islamophobia and racism, commenting, “The NRA right now are telling us that guns are a good thing and that we should be training our teenagers to go ahead and use them, but now that we have someone who's actually do that, and they're not white, and they're not Christian we think there's some nefarious plan.”

Dutch Politician Committed

Suicide Due to Threats Against Her Family, and Following a Brutal Gang Rape Last Year

Holland: A Dutch city councilor in the Hague, Willie Dille, 53, and member of Geert Wilders' anti-immigrant Freedom Party, was reported to have committed suicide shortly after posting a video on Facebook in which she claimed she was kidnapped and gang-raped by Muslims as part of an intimidation campaign over a year ago. She appears distressed in her video as she recounted that the gang demanded her silence during council debates and that she recently had received a death threat warning that "we will soon cut your throat and let you bleed to death." She blamed a former political colleague, Arnoud van Doorn, who converted to Islam, and accused him of orchestrating her rape. Police reported that Ms. Dille did not make a formal police report but had spoken with police several times. Dille was controversial and, in 2016, she shared a video on social media that said a nuclear bomb should be dropped on Muslims. -GEG

Willie Dille served as an MP for the anti-immigrant Freedom Party from 2010-2012 before returning to her seat on The Hague city council. The party's leader, Geert Wilders, is an outspoken critic of Islam.

This video was removed shortly after it was posted online.

"We can confirm that Ms. Dille never filed a formal complaint," the police said, adding that officers advised her "several times" to proceed with one. "But for reasons not known to us, [she] didn't. Neither did she provide us with details about the incident to enable us to commence an investigation."

He said that this reaffirms Trump's absolute right to exclude people or groups from certain areas from immigrating to the US. ## Tommy Robinson Still in Prison while Muslim Activist who Beat Policeman at Rally Is Set Free

London: A Muslim activist, Omar Mohamad, was set free by a judge, despite striking a police officer in the face with his walking stick while protesting a rally demanding the release of activist Tommy Robinson, who is known for exposing Muslim rape grooming gangs. Justice is skewed, as the violent Muslim man was set free while Tommy has been sentenced to two 13-month terms to be served consecutively for non-violent contempt of court convictions, imposed for reporting on grooming gang trials.

A Muslim activist who beat a police officer with a stick while protesting a Tommy Robinson rally has walked free from court.

Omar Mohamad had chosen to travel all the way from Reading to protest a free speech event led by Robinson at Speaker's Corner in Hyde Park, held "to express views that were adverse to the Muslim community in the United Kingdom" – according to District Judge Richard Blake.

"We live in a democracy – people should feel free, within limits, to express their opinions," he opined.

"You were with a group of other men. It is fair to say that immediately in front of you there was a fracas.

"You joined into the melee that happened and you joined in with your stick.

"While you do need that stick to walk with, you very much used it by wielding it around as a weapon. You brought the stick round and struck [Police Sergeant Guy Rooney] in the face.

"There is no doubt that this was a very significant injury that you caused with your stick."

Sergeant Rooney had told the court how the attack had left his face so badly damaged that his children would not walk to school with him, and claimed he had been left with post-traumatic stress.

Nevertheless, despite the violent nature of Mohamad's attack and his decision to claim he was acting in self-defence and plead not guilty, the judge appeared to buy the picture painted by the defence of a sickly man with multiple illnesses, who had "shown genuine remorse".

France: Concert Is Scheduled for Muslim Rapper Who Exhorts Followers to Kill Those Who Reject A Muslim State

France: A Muslim rapper, who released an album named 'Jihad' that calls for beheading all secularists, is scheduled to perform at the Bataclan Theater where Muslim radicals reportedly killed 90 people in November, 2015. Secularists are defined as those who reject the combination of religion with state power. This has triggered a wave of protest and a demand for the government to force the cancellation of the performances, which are an insult to the memory of the victims of the Bataclan attack. -GEG

There has been an outcry in France over news that a controversial Muslim rapper behind the album Jihad, whose lyrics include a call to "behead secularists", will be performing at the Bataclan theatre where Muslim radicals butchered 90 people at a concert in November 2015.

Since the dates for Médine Zaouiche to play two shows were announced Saturday, conservatives in France have been seeking to force the cancellation of the October planned performances, which have been branded “an insult” to Bataclan attack victims’ memory, according to local media.

More than 16,000 people so far have signed a petition against the planned performances, which represent “the height of indecency and submission” according to the Change.org website page.

Set up by patriotic French MPs, the petition points to Zaouiche’s “provocative” Jihad t-shirt, on which the outline of a sword forms the letter ‘J’, and argues it is “very difficult to accept” the rapper’s professed opposition to Islamist violence “in light of the ultra-reactionary and communitarian struggle he evokes in the majority of his lyrics”.

Lawyers representing relatives of dozens of the families of people slaughtered in the Islamist attack, Bernard Benaïem and Caroline Wassermann, on Monday declared they would launch legal action in order to get the shows cancelled on the grounds they pose a strong risk of “disturbing the public order”.

As well as populist leader Marine Le Pen, who posted that “No French can accept that this guy is going to be pouring his filth at the very place of #Bataclan carnage”, numerous politicians from the centre-right Les Republicains took to social media to express anger at the upcoming shows.

Chairman of the conservative party, Laurent Wauquiez, opined on Twitter that plans for the rapper to perform at the venue represent “sacrilege for the victims”, and said they bring dishonour for France.

Criticism was not restricted to the right, with MP Aurore Bergé from France’s ruling En Marche party tweeting to denounce the shows as “an insult” to Bataclan victims, describing Zaouiche’s anti-secularist lyrics as “no more, no less than incitement to murder”.

Migrant Grooming Gangs in Holland Are Preying on Dutch Girls

Each year, about 1,400 underage Dutch girls are blackmailed into sex slavery by young migrants, known as 'loverboys', who charm the teens into becoming sex partners, photograph them and then coerce them into prostitution. The men are mostly Moroccans, Turks, Caribbeans, and Roma. The vulnerable girls often come from an unstable home of lower social class. Police, social workers and charities ignore the problem out of fear of being called racist, as most grooming gangs are Muslim migrants.
