

Salk Institute: Pig-Human Chimeras Could Help Grow Human Organs

written by G. Edward Griffin | January 26, 2017

Scientists at California's Salk Institute are introducing human DNA into pig DNA with the objective of growing organs for human transplant. The chimera creations present a serious ethical dilemma if the pigs were to acquire human intelligence.