Defective PCR Tests Are Used to Test Sewage Across the US for Covid Virus

written by GEG | April 15, 2022

Surveillance of sewage can be implemented in almost any community as nearly 80% of US households are served by municipal wastewater collection systems. Officials use the notoriously inaccurate PCR test to monitor sewage and identify asymptomatic people who are not even sick.