

Singapore Deploys Police Robots to Break up Gatherings of More than 5 People

If the robot detects unwanted behavior, it will trigger real-time alerts to the command and control center and display the appropriate message to educate the public and “deter” such behaviors. The only thing missing is deadly force. Critics are confident that is coming next.