

Saudi Arabian Company Threatening Water Supply in Phoenix, Arizona and California

written by GEG | September 9, 2022

Fondomonte, the Saudi company, is growing alfalfa , a water intensive plant, that they ship back to the Middle East to feed cattle raised on ranches in their country. The Saudis drained their water supplies and now grow the water-intensive plant in foreign countries with cheap water. It sounds crazy, but it's true!

---

California State Water Resources Board Votes to Cut Water to Farms and Bay Area Cities

written by GEG | September 9, 2022

The state plans to double the present water flow to the ocean during dry periods. A torrent of lawsuits are expected. The Trump administration, which has spoken in favor of more water for farms, has threatened to sue over the Bay Delta Plan.